Local nurses shine a light into their worlds during pandemic

The fallout of COVID-19 is changing the lives of people across the globe, but those who face the virus head on said they’ve been trained for this.