A Suburban Chicago Hospital System Can Now Test For COVID-19

NorthShore University HealthSystem can now rapidly test its own patients for COVID-19, the first medical network in the state with the ability to do so as the disease spreads around the globe. WBEZ Radio