
Date: July 09, 2020  Time: 12:00 PM

Location:
Webinar - noon to 1 pm

Registration:
“COVID-19: What’s Next and How to Plan” is the second of six complimentary webinars in IHA’s virtual speaker series from June through September. You may register for individual session(s) or the entire series. Registration includes program material, one phone/Internet connection and access to the session recording(s).

How does COVID-19 fit into our future? Dr. Martin A. Makary, surgeon at Johns Hopkins University, will review the latest data on the novel coronavirus and how healthcare organizations can continue to plan and cope. He will interpret data from the latest national and international studies, while describing best practices for employee policies. As the pandemic evolves, your organization must adapt to keep pace—Dr. Makary will explain how.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

This virtual speaker series is designed especially for hospital and health system leadership teams, including:

- CEOs
- CFOs
- COOs
- CMOs
- CNOs
- Chief human resource officers
- Chief strategy officers
- Chief quality officers
- Clinical leaders
- Department leaders

SPEAKERS
Martin A. Makary, MD, Surgeon and Professor of Health Policy and Management, Johns Hopkins University and Editor-in-Chief, MedPage Today

Dr. Makary is a practicing surgical oncologist and public health expert. A member of the National Academy of Medicine, his research focuses on the healthcare supply chain, the scientific evaluation of new medical interventions in medicine, and public health strategies. This year, Becker's Review named Dr. Makary one of the 40 “Smartest People in Health Care.” He also served on the World Health Organization Surgery Checklist project and published the acclaimed book, The Price We Pay: What Broke American Health Care — and How to Fix It.

©2020 Illinois Health and Hospital Association