Lockdowns prevented nearly 5 million U.S. coronavirus cases, study says

Shutdown orders to close nonessential businesses and keep most people at home over the last two months helped the U.S. avoid nearly 5 million confirmed coronavirus cases. CNBC