She was about to give birth when she learned she had COVID-19. Here’s what happened next.

Faber knew what was about to happen, as she labored with her third child, breathing heavily through a face mask.