COVID-19 took a big toll in Illinois. Will deaths surge again?

When the COVID-19 pandemic struck the United States, Illinois was one of the first hot spots in the country, fueling a death toll that remains among the nation's highest. Chicago Tribune