AI can help predict which young kids are more likely to develop autism, a new study says. UPI